Executive Summary

Humboldt County maintains approximately 1200 centerline miles of roads, in which 932 centerline miles are paved (chip sealed or asphalt concrete (AC)). A pavement management system (PMS) is used to maintain paved network. This report is focused only on the 932 miles of paved roads. Based on the results of a recent survey completed in October 2011, the current average pavement condition index (PCI) is 58, which is in the "fair" condition category. A breakdown of the percentages of the County's network that fall into each condition category is found in Figure 1 below.

This report is intended to assist the County in making cost-effective decisions in managing and programming funding needs for the pavement network.

The pavement needs analysis shows that more than $364.9 million is required over the next ten years to repair all the roads and improve the average PCI to 83 ("good to excellent" condition category). This will also eliminate the maintenance backlog.

Three funding scenarios were analyzed:

1. Maintain Current PCI at 58 – In order to maintain the current PCI at 58, an annual budget of $15 million will be needed; however, the maintenance backlog will increase from $114.9 million to $396.8 million.
2. Improve PCI to 70 – An annual budget of $23.5 million will be needed to improve the PCI to 70. The maintenance backlog will still continue to increase from $105.7 million to approximately $244.6 million.
3. Existing Budget – This scenario assumes the County's existing budget of $3 million per year. Under this budget scenario, the County's network condition will drop to 34 by 2021 Additionally, the maintenance backlog will increase to approximately $538.6 million. Based on the analyses performed, it is clear that the County's existing budget of $3 million per year is not sufficient to maintain the pavement network. Due to the aging infrastructure and escalating construction costs, a significant increase in pavement funding is required.

Introduction

In 2009, the Humboldt County Association of Governments (HCAOG) selected Nichols Consulting Engineers (NCE) to implement a regional Pavement Management Program (PMP). This was intended to assist HCAOG member entities and Native American Tribes in determining roadway maintenance, rehabilitation, and reconstruction needs. This will also help to prioritize the pavement needs to maximize the efficient use of limited resources available.

In addition to the Humboldt County, the following agencies were participants in this study:

- City of Eureka
- City of Arcata
- Town of Blue Lake
- Town of Ferndale
- Town of Fortuna
- Town of Rio Dell
- Town of Trinidad
- Tribal Roads of Humboldt County

Phase I of the study in 2009 only included the arterial and collector roads in the County, In 2011, Phase II was to collect data on the remaining local/residential roads. This report includes the entire road network.

Background

A Pavement Management Program is designed to assist cities and counties in answering typical questions such as:

- What does the County's pavement network consist of? How many miles of roads are eligible for federal or state funds? How many are subjected to traffic from buses or heavy trucks?
- What is the existing condition of the pavement network? Is this an acceptable level for the County? If not, what is an acceptable level? How much additional funding is needed to achieve an acceptable level?
- Are there roads in specific areas that are much worse than others, and if so, how much worse?
- How will the condition of the pavement network respond over time under existing funding levels?
- What maintenance and rehabilitation strategies exist to improve current pavement conditions? What maintenance activities or treatments have occurred in the past on any given road?
- What impact would either additional funding or a decrease in funding, have on the condition of the overall pavement network?
- What is the backlog of maintenance and rehabilitative work that should be done? What are the future maintenance and rehabilitation needs? Are there different needs for different classes of roads i.e. arterials vs. residentials?

- Under different funding levels, what is the most cost-effective way to implement a multi-year capital improvement program? Maintenance work program?
- What are the road repair priorities, given different budgeting scenarios?

The County owns and maintains approximately 932 centerline miles of paved roads, of which 443.6 miles were surveyed in Phase I. Phase II project included the pavement condition survey of 506 miles of roads. The table below summarizes the pavement network by functional class.

Table 1. Breakdown of Road Network By Functional Class

Functional Class	Centerline Miles	Lane Miles	# of Sections
Arterial	356.7	759.7	440
Collector	138.5	272.7	1,52
Residential/Local	436.7	854.0	1,271
Total	931.9	1,886.4	1,863

The cost to replace this road network is estimated at $836 million, which represents a significant portion of the County's investment in transportation infrastructure. This cost includes the replacement of the pavement structure from the subgrade to the wearing surface as well as ancillary items.

A maintenance and rehabilitation strategy was developed after discussions with the County, and the unit costs were based on the actual construction bids received on paving projects from 2006-2010 that were provided by surrounding cities and towns. Then, a budget needs analysis was performed. In addition, three budgetary scenarios were analyzed. This report presents the results of our analyses.

Purpose

This report links the PMP's recommended repair program costs to the County's projected budget alternatives to improve overall maintenance and rehabilitation strategies. This report assesses the adequacy of projected revenues to meet the maintenance needs recommended by the PMP. It also maximizes the return from expenditures by:

1. implementing a multi-year road rehabilitation and maintenance program;
2. developing a preventative maintenance program; and
3. selecting the most cost effective repairs.

This study examines the overall condition of the road network and highlights options for improving the current network level pavement condition index (PCI). These options are developed by conducting "what if" scenarios using Humboldt County's pavement management system database. By varying the budget amounts available for pavement M&R, one can show how different funding strategies can impact the County's roads over the next ten years.

Existing Pavement Condition

The pavement condition index, or PCI, is a measurement of pavement grade or condition and ranges from 0 to 100. A newly constructed road would have a PCI of 100, while a failed road would have a PCI of 10 or less. Humboldt County's average 2011 PCI is 58, which is in the "fair" category. A detailed PCI report which includes all the Roads in Humboldt County is presented in Appendix A. A description of the various M&R strategies available for the County follow are listed in Appendix B. Figure 2 illustrates the different pavement condition categories below – these follow industry standards and are widely used throughout California and the United States.

A brief description of each condition category is summarized as follows:

- Category I: Pavements which have little or no distress. A pavement in this category may be described as "excellent" or "very good". An example in this category is Little Fairfield Street between Bingen Avenue and Aldred Avenue, which has a PCI of 77.

- Category II: Pavements which have a significant level of distress that are predominantly non-load related. A pavement in this category may be described as "fair". An example in this category is Bay Circle beginning at Landis Road to End, which has a PCI of 63.

- Category III: Pavements which have a significant level of distress that are predominantly load related. A pavement in this category may be described as “fair”. An example is Cannibal Road between Eel River Drive and Mile Marker 1.0, which has a PCI of 60.

- Category IV: Pavements which have a major distress. A pavement in this category may be described as “poor”. An example is Beechwood Drive beginning at Brairwood Circle to End, which has a PCI of 37.

- Category V: Pavements which have an extensive amount of distress. A pavement in this category may be described as “very poor or failed”. An example is Benbow Drive between Mile Marker of 2.75 and Mile Marker of 3.45, which has a PCI of 16.

The reason to separate roads with a PCI between 50 and 70 into either Category II or III is because the repair strategies are very different. A Category III repair will usually address structural failures and will cost more than a Category II repair.

Pavement management information from regional agencies was collected to gauge Humboldt County’s condition against the region. PCI data was collected for seven agencies: the City of Arcata, as well as the Towns of Blue Lake, Eureka, Ferndale, Fortuna, Rio Dell, and Trinidad. The tribal roads have not yet been included in this part of the study. The PCI comparisons are shown in Figure 3.

Approximately 45.9% of the County’s pavement area is in the “good to excellent” condition category; about 35.2% of the pavement area falls in the “poor or fair” category and about 11.8% of the network falls in the “failed” category (see Figure 4 below). Detailed PCI results can be found in Appendix A.

Budget Needs

It is well documented that it costs less to maintain roads in good condition than roads in bad condition. Therefore, the StreetSaver program strives to develop a maintenance and rehabilitation (M&R) strategy that will improve the overall condition of the network to an optimal PCI somewhere around the 80's. The County's current average network PCI is 58, and a significant portion of the network suffers from load-related distresses. If these issues are not addressed, the quality of the road network will inevitably decline. In order to correct these deficiencies, a cost-effective funding and M&R strategy should be implemented.

The first step is to determine the maintenance "needs" of the pavement network. Using the budget needs module, the M&R needs over the next ten years were estimated at approximately $364.9 million for the County. If the County follows the M&R strategy presented in Appendix C and prioritization strategy recommended in the program, the average network PCI will increase to 83. This is the level at which it is most cost-effective to maintain the pavements with preventive maintenance strategies. If, however, no maintenance or rehabilitation is applied over the next ten years, already distressed roads will continue to deteriorate, and the network PCI will drop to 34. The results of the budget needs analysis are summarized in Table 2 below.

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017

Preventive Maint. ($ M)	9.3	6.3	4.2	5.3	32.7
Budget Needs ($ M)	13.1	8.4	10.0	10.4	364.9

The results of the budget needs analysis represent the ideal funding strategy recommended by StreetSaver. Of the $364.9 million in M&R needs shown, approximately $32.7 million (9%) is earmarked for preventative maintenance or life-extending treatments, while the rest (91%) is allocated for more costly rehabilitation and reconstruction treatments.

Impacts of Projected Funding Levels

Using the StreetSaver budget scenario modules, both the overall PCI for the pavement network as well as the amount of unfunded maintenance backlog can be evaluated for a given funding level over a period of time. The unfunded backlog consists of pavement M&R that is needed, but cannot be addressed due to lack of funding. Shrinking budgets have forced many cities and counties to defer much-needed road maintenance. By deferring M&R, not only does the frequency of citizens' complaints about the condition of the network increase, but also the cost to repair these roads increases as well.

Figure demonstrates the old colloquial saying of “pay me now, or pay more later”. History has shown that it costs less to maintain roads in good condition than to repair roads that have failed. By allowing pavements to deteriorate, roads that once cost only $1.50 to $3.70 per square yard to surface seal may soon cost $15.50 to $35 per square yard to overlay and upwards of $47 to $101 per square yard to reconstruct.

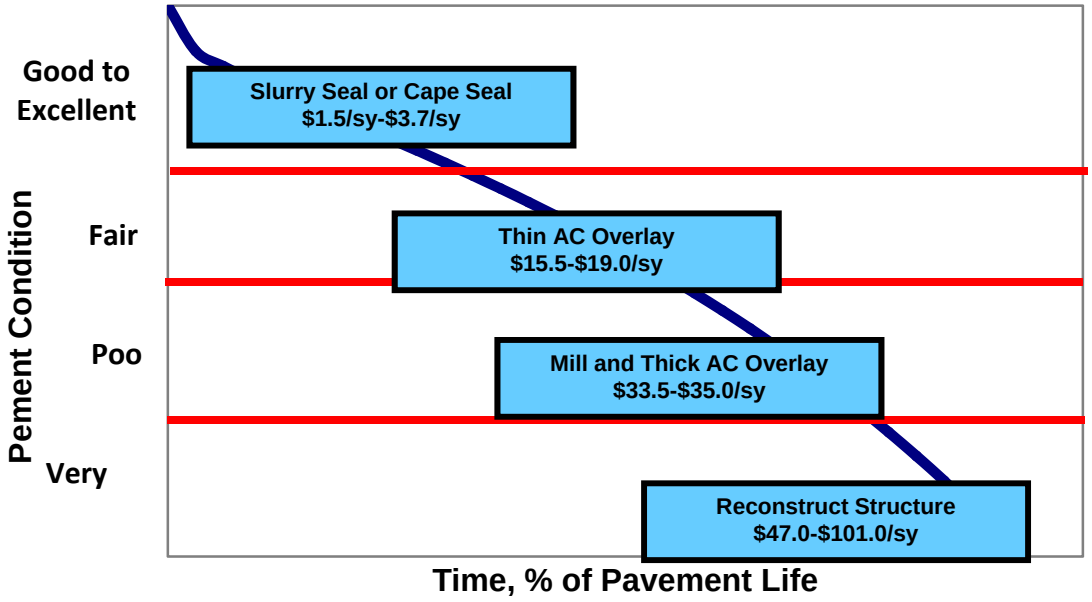

Figure 5. Cost to Maintain a Pavement Over Time

Budget Scenarios

Having determined the maintenance needs of the road network, the next step in developing a cost-effective M&R strategy is to conduct several what-if analyses. Using StreetSaver's budget scenario module, the impacts of various budget scenarios can be evaluated. The program forecasts the effects of the different scenarios on PCI and deferred maintenance (backlog). By examining the effects on these indicators, the advantages and disadvantages of different funding levels and maintenance strategies become clear. The following scenarios were performed for this report at the request of the County based on current and projected funding programs to ensure that the PMP is a useful document regardless of funding modifications.

Scenario 1. Maintain Current PCI at 58 ($15 million per year) – $15 million per year will be needed in order to maintain the current PCI of the network at 58. The deferred maintenance backlog will increase by approximately $281.9 million, from $114.9 million to $396.8 million.

Scenario 2. Improve PCI to 70 ($23.5 million per year) – In order to improve the PCI to 70, $23.5 million per year will be needed. In the meantime, the maintenance backlog will still continue to increase from $105.7 million to $244.6 million by 2021.

Scenario 3. County Budget ($3 million per year) – In this scenario, the County's existing funding level is $3 million per year, and assumes no increase in funding for the next 10 years. As a consequence, the County's network condition will drop from 58 to 42 by 2021. Additionally, the maintenance backlog will more than quadruple from $126.3 million to $538.6 million.

Scenario 1. Maintain Current PCI at 58 ($15 million per year)

In order to maintain the current condition of the network at PCI of 58, $15 million per year will be needed. The maintenance backlog will continue to increase from $114.9 million to $396.8 million. Approximately 67.7% of the network will be in the good or excellent condition category, while 30.2% will still remain in the "failed" category. Although the network PCI remains at 58, it can be seen that the deferred maintenance backlog will still increase. This is because the available budget is only enough to keep good roads in good condition but is not sufficient to also repair those roads that fall into categories IV and V.

Scenario 2. Improve PCI to 70 ($23.5 million per year)

In order to improve the condition of the network PCI to 70, $23.5 million per year will be needed. The maintenance backlog will continue to increase from $105.7 million to $244.6 million. Approximately 83.7% of the network will be in the good or excellent condition category, while 16.3% will still remain in the "failed" category. Although the network PCI remains around 70, it can be seen that the deferred maintenance backlog will still increase.

Scenario 3. Existing Budget ($3 million per year)

In this scenario, the County's existing funding level is approximately $3 million per year. As a consequence, the County's network condition will drop from the current PCI of 58 to 42 by 2021. Also, the maintenance backlog will more than quadruple from $126.3 million to $538.6 million. In addition, 26.4% of the network will be in the good to excellent condition category, and 37.7% of pavements will remain in the "failed" category. Based on the existing budget, the prioritized list of candidate roads for treatment is presented in Appendix D.

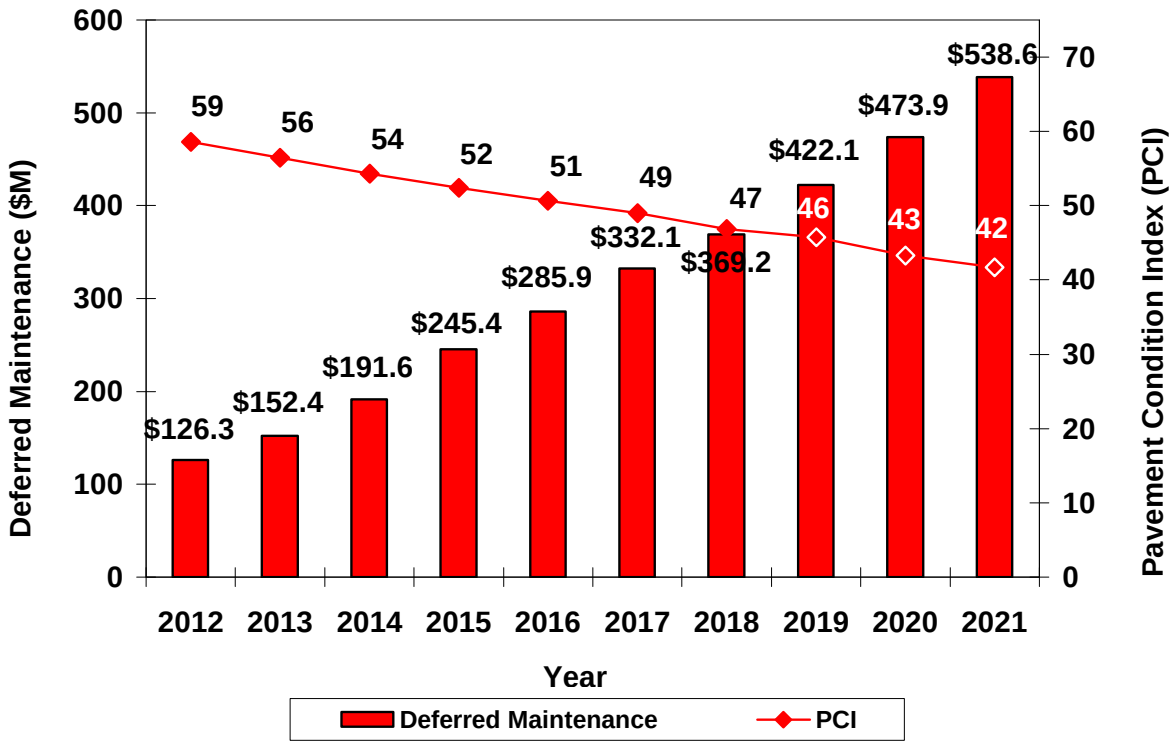

Figure 8. PCI vs. Deferred Maintenance for Scenario 3: Existing Budget ($3.0 million per year)

Discussion

Figure illustrates the change in PCI over time for the different budget scenarios. Note that Scenario 1 ($15.0 million per year) will maintain the average network PCI at 58 over the next 10 years. Scenario 2 ($23.5 million per year) will improve the network PCI to 70 over 10 years. Scenario 3 ($3.0 per year), which is the current funding scenario, will see a decrease in the PCI to 42 by 2021.

Figure 9 illustrates the change in deferred maintenance over time for the different budget scenarios. Note that Scenario 1 (Maintain PCI at 58) will still see an increase in the deferred maintenance even though the PCI remains about the same. This indicates that a constant PCI does not also mean that the unfunded backlog is stable. The reason is because funds are allocated to preserve all the good roads first (i.e. where the PCI > 70). Any roads with a PCI <70 will continue to deteriorate, and their deferred costs to repair will continue to increase, and the unfunded backlog will continue to grow.

Conclusions

Humboldt County currently has a paved road network of 932 centerline miles or 1886 lane miles. Overall, the roadwork network that was surveyed is in “fair” condition with an average PCI of 58. Approximately 38.1% are in the “Good to Excellent” condition category; however, about 35.2% of the network also falls into the poor and failed categories, which require a significant amount of money to restore these pavements. The pavement needs of the entire road network are projected to be $364.9 million over the next ten years.

Based on the County’s existing budget level of $3 million per year and assuming no increases in future years, the network average PCI will deteriorate to 42 by 2021.

It is obvious that the current level of funding will not be sufficient to meet the County’s needs both in the short and long terms. If more funding is not made available then the County’s roads will only deteriorate further and will only make it that much more difficult to show any signs of improvement.

Statewide, there are a large variety of local funding sources that cities and counties rely on. They include:

- General funds
- Local sales taxes
- Developer impact fees
- Various assessment districts – lighting, special assessment
- Community services districts
- Redevelopment agencies
- Traffic impact fees
- Traffic safety/circulation fees
- Utility taxes/fees
- Transportation mitigation fees
- Parking and various permit fees
- Tribal funds
- Traffic safety fines
- Fines and forfeitures
- Interest income
- Landfill mitigation
- Landscape funding plan
- Local Transportation Fund (LTF)
- Property taxes
- Storm drain fund
- Tolls
- Tobacco settlement funds

Humboldt County is strongly encouraged to consider additional sources of funding for the pavement network.

Glossary

Deferred Maintenance	This is maintenance work that is deferred to a future budget cycle, or postponed until funds are available. The failure to perform needed repair, maintenance, and renewal by normal maintenance management creates deferred maintenance, also called “Backlog”.
Functional Class	Defines the primary function of a particular pavement section. The four classes are: A (Arterial), C (Collector), R (Residential), and O (Other).
Network	All the roads in the county that includes arterial, collector, and residential roads.
PCI	Pavement Condition Index - measured on a scale of 0 (failed) to 100 (excellent), PCIs can be calculated from inspection units and applied maintenance treatments.
PMP	Pavement Management Program
PM%	Percentage of each year’s budget that has been set aside for preventive maintenance activities such as slurry seals.
Preventative Maintenance	These are treatments that are applied to pavements with a PCI greater than 70. They include treatments such as crack seals or slurry seals and are intended to preserve the pavement. However, it does not extend the structural service life of the pavement.
Rehabilitation	These are treatments that are applied for pavements with a PCI less than 70. Typically, they include overlays and reconstruction and are intended to extend the structural life of the pavement.
Replacement Cost	Cost to replace the entire pavement structure e.g. asphalt concrete and aggregate base.
Treatment	Repair activities that are applied to restore either the functional or structural deficiencies of the pavement.

Appendix B: M&R Treatment Description

Brief Description of Maintenance and Rehabilitation Treatments

Crack Sealing

Crack Sealing is the placement of polymerized/rubberized asphalt materials into cracks that bond to the crack walls and move with the pavement. This technique is used to fill longitudinal and transverse cracks, including joint reflection cracks from underlying PCC slabs that are 1/8" to ½" wide. The primary purpose of crack sealing in Asphalt Concrete (AC) pavement is to prevent surface water infiltration into the substructure of pavement and to prevent the debris stay in the cracks. It is more cost effective to use this technique as preventative maintenance when the overall pavement condition is in good condition. Sealing cracks on a deteriorated pavement surface is not cost effective and will not provide any structural benefit to the road.

Fog seal

A Fog seal involves the spraying of a light coat of a bituminous material (typically 0.03 to 0.05 gallon per square yard) on the surface of an existing pavement using a distributor. It is used to reduce raveling while also improving waterproofing. Fog seals are especially good for treating pavements that carry light traffic such as parking lots.

Slurry seals

A slurry Seal consists of a graded aggregate, asphalt emulsion, mineral filler, water, and additives. It is a hard wearing surface for pavement preservation. Slurry Seals are used primarily on aged and raveled pavements, filling minor cracks, restoring skid resistance and adding aesthetic appeal. It may be used on low volume streets and parking lots. Larger cracks need to be individually treated before the application of a slurry seal. The surface is smoother than a chip seal treatment and is more "surface friendly". In general, slurry seal can be categorized into three types which depend on the maximum aggregate size in the mix. Type I slurry seals usually contain maximum aggregate size of 1/8"; Type II slurry seals usually contain maximum aggregate size of ¼"; and Type III slurry seals usually contain maximum aggregate size of 3/8".

Scrub seals

A scrub seals are a polymer modified asphalt layer applied to an asphalt pavement surface and scrubbed into the cracks and voids with a broom. A layer of sand or small aggregate is then applied over the asphalt and then scrubbed over again, forcing the mix into the cracks and voids to form a seal. It is used to fill and seal small cracks and voids, as well as to enrich hardened/oxidized asphalt. Many contractors are still unfamiliar with the scrub seal method, so tests may be needed to determine what emulsion or polymer-modified emulsion would work with the brooms.

Chip seal

Chip seals are the application of asphalt and aggregate chips rolled onto the pavement. In the United States, chip seals are typically used on rural roads carrying lower traffic volumes. It is used to seal the surface of a pavement with non-load associated cracks, and to improve surface friction. During the treatment, the roadway can be opened to low-speed traffic just after the application of the aggregate. However, it requires constant attention and frequent adjustment of aggregate application rates to minimize chip loss, loose aggregates, and bleeding. Windshields can be damaged by the loose aggregate before the excess is removed and dust can be created during the brooming of the loose aggregate. Double chip seals are common for more high volume roads.

Cape Seals

A cape is the application of a chip seal followed by a slurry seal or microsurfacing within a few days of the initial treatment. Cape Seals are used where a chip seal is too rough and when a smooth finish is required e.g. in the residential streets. In instances where cracking is a problem, a polymer or asphalt rubber modified chip seal can alleviate cracking and the slurry provides the smooth surface. It can increase the life of a chip seal by enhancing binding of the chips and by protecting the surface.

Microsurfacing

Microsurfacing consists of graded aggregates, asphalt emulsion, mineral filler, water and other additives. Compare to slurry seal, microsurfacing uses better quality aggregates and a fast setting emulsion of higher stiffness allowing thicker layers to be placed. Thus, it is usually used in the more specialized slurry jobs of rut filling, restoring surface profiles, and for roads that sustain heavy traffic. It also has quicker cure time, but the cost is higher than a slurry or chip seal treatment.

Ultrathin Bonded Wearing Surface

An ultrathin bonded wearing surface is a specially formulated thin asphalt mix overlay. Ultra-thin bonded wearing surface is placed with a specially built machine that places a thick layer of oil and asphalt in a single pass. The heavy oil application seals small cracks in the existing pavement and helps to ensure the adhesion of the asphalt to the underlying pavement. The ultrathin mat, usually ranges from ½ to 3/4 inches thick. The treatment is primarily used to provide a durable, friction resistant surface on existing pavement, without the expense of milling the existing asphalt. But the cost for this application is high, and it needs special construction equipment.

Hot-Mix Asphalt (HMA) Overlay

This technique involves adding an HMA layer to an existing HMA or PCC pavement. It is used to correct or improve the structural capacity or functional requirements such as skid resistance and ride quality. The use of an HMA overlay is usually more economic when the existing pavement is still in good to fair condition. An overlay may be combined with other M&R methods such as cold milling, cold recycling, hot recycling, and heater scarification. The thickness of the new surface will be dependent on the type, severity and extent of the pavement surface distresses, the ride quality and the required structural improvement necessary to accommodate the design traffic.

Rubberized Hot-Mix Asphalt (RHMA)

Rubberized hot-mix asphalt concrete (RHMA) is a road paving material made by blending ground-up recycled tires with asphalt to produce a binder which is then mixed with conventional aggregate materials. This mix is then placed and compacted into a road surface. There are two primary types of binders for RHMA, asphalt-rubber and terminal blend. Asphalt-Rubber is a blend of paving grade asphalt cement, ground recycled tire rubber and other additives, as needed, for use as binder in pavement construction. The rubber shall be blended and interacted in the hot asphalt cement sufficiently to cause swelling of the rubber particles prior to use. The asphalt-rubber binder is field blended (at the hot mix plant) and requires specialized mobile mixing equipment to produce. Typical crumb rubber modifier (CRM) content for asphalt-rubber ranges from 18-22 percent. The crumb rubber modifier used in asphalt-rubber is in the 10-16 mesh range. Terminal blends. are binder materials that use finely ground (less than 30 mesh) crumb rubber modifier and are typically blended at the asphalt refinery. Historically, terminal blend binders contained 10 percent or less crumb rubber modifier. However, in recent years the crumb rubber modifier content has been increased to 15-20 percent in some projects. The major advantages of using the RHMA are better resistance to reflective cracking and more environmental friendly which help to use recycled tires.

Reconstruction

Reconstruction, which might be considered as the ultimate or extreme rehabilitation treatment, consists of the removal of the pavement structure which can go down to the subgrade, reworking and recompacting the subgrade, and completely replacing the pavement layers with new, or recycled materials, or a combination thereof.

Cold In-Place Recycling

Cold in-place recycling involves cold milling of the pavement surface, addition of emulsified asphalt, Portland cement or other modifiers to improve the properties of the original asphalt concrete mix followed by screeding and compaction of the reprocessed material in one continuous operation. The use of cold in-place recycling can restore old pavement to the desired profile, eliminate existing wheel ruts, restore the crown and cross slope, and eliminate pothole, irregularities and rough areas. It can also eliminate transverse, reflective, and longitudinal cracks. The major advantages for the cold in-place recycling are the potential of cost savings, minimum traffic disruption, ability to retain original profile, reduction of environmental concerns, and a growing concern for depleting petroleum reserves. However, cold in-place recycled pavements require a new wearing surface to be placed as a seal and to restrict moisture intrusion.

Full Depth Reclamation

This rehabilitation technique is often used for pavements exhibiting extensive distress. It involves pulverization of the pavement surface layers and a portion of the granular base for depths of up to 7.8 inches or more. The resulting mixture of asphalt concrete materials and granular or treated (i.3., soil cement) base can then be compacted and used as a granular base or sub-base for the new pavement. It can also be stabilized using bituminous materials, Portland cement, lime and calcium chloride. New granular base material can be added to improve the structural capacity of the pavement followed by the placement of a new riding surface. Advantages of this technique include the reuse of the existing pavement materials and the elimination of potential reflection cracking from and old asphalt concrete layer through the new pavement surface layer.

Perpetual Pavement

Perpetual pavement is defined as an asphalt pavement designed and built to last longer than 50 years without requiring major structural rehabilitation or reconstruction, and needing only periodic surface renewal in response to distresses confined to the top of the pavement. The basic concept is that HMA pavements over a minimum strength are not likely to exhibit structural damage even when subjected to very high traffic flows over long periods of time. Rather, deterioration seems to initiate in the pavement surface as either top-down cracking or rutting. If surface-initiated cracking and rutting can be detected and remedied before they impact the structural integrity of the pavement, the pavement design life could be greatly increased.

Warm Mix Asphalt

Warm mix asphalt is the same as conventional asphalt except it has lower mixing temperature (30 to 100ºF lower than hot-mix asphalt). This is achieved by various mechanical and chemical methods to reduce the shear resistance of the mix at the construction temperature while reportedly maintaining or improving pavement performance. The major advantage of warm mix asphalt includes lower fumes emissions, lower energy consumption, lower plant wear consumption, decreased binder aging, early site opening, cool weather paving, and compaction aid for stiff mixes. Currently available warm mix technologies include WAM Foam, Zeolite, Sasobit and Evotherm.

Foam Asphalt

Foamed asphalt is formed by combining hot asphalt binder with small amounts of cold water. When the cold water comes in contact with the hot asphalt binder it turns to steam, which becomes trapped in tiny asphalt binder bubbles. The result is a thin-film, high volume asphalt foam that bitumen has a very large surface area and extremely low viscosity making it ideal for mixing with aggregates. The advantages of using foam asphalt includes increases the shear strength and reduces the moisture susceptibility of granular materials, lower binder and transportation costs, saving in time, energy conservation, and wider temperature workability.
